Key To My Heart," in which Miss Ethel Cabell, Robert Blankenship and Irvine Duke made a charming picture. The next program number was a violin solo, played by the lovely and talented little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Adkins, Maria, who excited universal admiration by her playing with which she handles her bow and the taste shown in her selections. She was accompanied by Miss Myrtle Redford, well known in Richmond as a brilliant pianist.

Their playing preceded the raising of the curtain on "Mother Goose Party." Leonard Whippin, Jr., made an admirable and jolly Old King Cole, his dainty little pipe and bowl bearers being Claire Shackelford and Florence Poole Hankins, and his "three merry fiddlers," who were most expert in their rendition of lively airs, being Austin Brockenbrough, Carter Scott, Jr., and Jack Hagan.

A most attractive "Hot Cross Bun Man" was Millington Blankenship, who cried his wares with great gusto and came in just ahead of the "Old Woman Who Lived in the Shoe." Miss Virginia Hughes, of Norfolk. Her pretty big family were by name Miriam Norment, Florence Hankins, Claire Shackelford, Sue Orgain, Mary Mann and Albert Hankins. Their antics brought down the house.

One seldom sees a prettier "Bo-Peep" than Miss Dorothy Cabell or a more perfectly matched "Jack and Jill" than Miss Katherine Cabell and Jack Potts. The entire age company gave a cordial greeting to Miss Katherine Valentine, who gracefully impersonated "Miss Mary, Quite Contrary." Irvine Duke, as "Jack Horner," did not fail to find the plums in his pie, and little "Miss Muffet" so successfully that she received a large bouquet of lilacs of the valley.

Miss Gene Heck, as "Mother Goose," called the roll of the company and found her "Little Boy Blue" by the sound of a horn in the hands of William Dillon, who was loudly applauded. A closing violin solo by Miss Adkins was the gem of the evening. The entire performance was most creditable and greatly enjoyed by the audience.

Song Recitals.
On Thursday and Friday afternoons friends of the pupils of Miss Effie Aylett Cofer made a pleasant gathering in her studio, when the vocal classes held the closing musicals of the season. The afternoons proved very pleasant and the rooms presented quite an attractive appearance in the decorations of palms, ferns and American Beauty roses.

Miss Cofer sang a group of songs at each recital, and those taking part in the excellent programs were Miss Lucy Ann Gwathmey, Miss Elsie Wright, Miss Ella Hancock, Miss Mary Parker Steinlein, Miss Anna Miller English, Miss Lottie Allen, Miss Alice Penick, Miss Branch Sutherland, Miss Lena Ogilvie, Miss Floy Kratz, Miss Florence Wood, Miss Helen Yates, Miss Tunney Wee Wright, of Ashland; Mrs. H. C. Duesberry and Miss Lillian Harris.

Spend Day at Seashore.
A number of Richmond people went down to Buckroe on Thursday last and spent a very pleasant day by the shore. Returning late that afternoon, in the party were: Mrs. Charles M. Ferrell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lecky, Mrs. Bassett, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whitte, Mrs. Samuel P. Waddill, Miss Bessie Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cary and children, Miss Emily Waddill, Mr. and Mrs. Throckmorton, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Elbert, Mr. and Mrs. Maury, Mrs. A. D. Hewitt, Miss Ebel Moseley, Misses Julia and Janie Elbertson, Mrs. Marks, Albert Peaco, John and Temple Waddill, Albert and Clairborne Peaco, Ernest Pulliam, Mr. and Mrs. White, Miss Oley Tinsley, Miss Bettie Henley, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Roden, of Norfolk, Misses Helen Lucy and Jessie Moseley, Helen Peaco, Miss Mary Pendleton, Miss Annie Newman and W. L. Sydnor and family.

Sailed Yesterday.
Miss Margaret Chevening left Richmond last Wednesday for New York City, where she visited her brother, Walton L. Chevening, for a few days before sailing yesterday for Europe on board the Koenig Albert, of the North German-Lloyd Line.

Miss Chevening will tour England and then travel on the continent, her trip to extend over three months.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ripley and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Borden were among the Richmonders sailing from New York last week.

Change of Date.
The Confederate Memorial Literary Society will hold its next regular meeting in the Confederate Museum, Wednesday, June 23, at 11 o'clock, instead of on Wednesday, June 20, it usually being the custom to hold these meetings on the last Wednesday of the month.

Choplin and List Mustale.
The last pupils' recital of the season given in Mr. Hahn's studio was devoted to the two above-named composers. The following pupils were among the performers, namely: Miss Eva Anderson, of West Point; Miss Louise Barker, Miss Ellen Broadus, of Bowling Green; Miss Patti Cary, Miss Martha Clark, Miss Myrtle Corr, of West Point; Miss Anne Fleming, Miss Blanche Ford, Miss Helen Schmidt, Miss Marion Spicer, Miss Bessie Stearnes, Miss Lily Trevett, Miss Irma Wallerstein, and Mr. Bassett Hough. Miss Katherine Hart, a pupil of Miss Stockell, delighted those present with some artistically rendered vocal selections from Hahn's "Die Meistersinger," and the piano selections were rendered in a very creditable manner, both as to technique and expression.

Commencement Finals.
Throughout Virginia during the week the universities and colleges have been holding the annual exercises, and the entertaining and gay social life which always follow have made the week a most successful one in the college towns.

The final ball at Virginia Polytechnic Institute Wednesday night began with a beautiful military figure led by J. P. Jones with Miss Nan Logan, of Salem. At 10:30 the forty couples taking part marched from the dining-hall up into the ballroom, the men in full dress uniform and the girls in hand-made dresses, each one carrying a blue ribbon, long-sleeved, American Beauty roses. The dancing, under a line of crossed sabres, the ladies then formed an arch of roses extending nearly the entire length of the room beneath which their partners marched. Seventy couples made up the regular german which lasted until the electric lights gave way to the rays of another day's sun, and the strains of "Home, Sweet Home" announced the end of the commencement week festivities. A course supper was served to 200 guests at 11 o'clock, and the chaplains were Mrs. Paul B. Barringer, the ladies of the faculty and society women from every city in Virginia.

Some of those dancing were: Miss Elsie Schmelz, Hampton, and Mr. St. Clair; Miss Theresa Nurney, Suffolk; Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins; Miss Carrie Austin, Roanoke, and Mr. Skinner; Miss Johnson, Alexandria, and Mr. Harris; Miss Rosalie Stockard, Columbus, Miss J. R. Hutcheson; Miss Evelyn Shirley, Bluefield, and Mr. Bowyer; Miss Cantley Venable, University of North Carolina, and Mr. Sutton; Miss Ollie Surface, Christiansburg, and Mr. Spindle;

Hair Removers Are Dangerous.

Ladies should be most particular in choosing a hair remover and learn first what reputable authorities know about it.

In treating superfluous hair it is of vital importance that the agent to be employed should be absolutely non-poisonous and germicidal, because if it is not so with frequent use it will produce eczema or blood poisoning.

De Lamoignon's hair remover has been proved that it is harmless, safe and sure. Don't be deceived by startling statements made by fake beauty rosters. For a long time De Lamoignon's hair remover has been sold by The Cohen Co., Children's Drug Co., 101 E. Broad St., and all other good stores, or booklet in plain sealed envelope by De Lamoignon Chem.
